4-H JUDGING TEAM PICKED

RAVENWOOD CLUB FURNISHES HIGHEST SCORING TRIO.

TO GO TO ST. JOSEPH

Clifford Froyd, Leon Brown and Raymond Crater the Winners.—1925 Team Champions.

Three members of the Ravenwood Baby Beef Club were selected Saturday to represent Nodaway County in in the livestock judging contest at the Interstate Baby Beef and Pig Club Show at St. Joseph, October 5, 6 and 7.

The team will be composed of Clifford Froyd, Conception Junction, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Froyd; Leon Brown, Maryville, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Brown, of the Harmony neighborhood; and Raymond Crater, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crater, Ravenwood. The competition was by clubs, the scores of the three highest members of each club being totaled and the club trio with the highest total being declared winner. Thus the three who were chosen to represent the county did not necessarily have the three highest esores in the county, but the total of their scores was higher than the total of the three highest members of any other club.

This year's team is entirely new, as the trio which represented Nodaway county last year won the championship and was ineligible to compete again. This team was composed of Myron Crater, a brother of Raymond; Roy Eldon Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Moore, Ravenwood; and Fay Woodson Null, Maryville, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Null. They also were members of the Ravenwood club.

Clifford Froyd was the owner of the champion Aberdeen-Angus calf at last year's show at St. Joseph. This is his second year in 4-H club work. For Raymond Crater it is the fourth year and for Leon Brown the first. Crater was a member of the stock judging team in 1924.

The boys will judge two classes of fat steers and two of fat barrows. The county try-outs were held at the Bellows farm and the following boys competed:

Graham Baby Beef club: Edward Geyer, Edwin Goodpasture, John Noblett and Russell Noblett.

Rockford Pig Club: Laverne Worl, Eugene Moore, Marion Daken, Lester Reaksecker, jr., and Harold Bailey.

Maryville Baby Beef club: Eugene Espey, Fred Espey and Maurice Berg.

Ravenwood Baby Beef club: Howard and Raymond Crater, Leonard and Clifford Froyd, Oral Porter, Charley and Landis Burch and Leon Brown.

Hawes to Speak in Circuit Court Room

On Account Of Weather, Tent Meeting Has Been Cancelled—To Arrive Here Tomorrow Noon.

Harry B. Hawes, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Missouri, will deliver an address in the Circuit court room here at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Mr. Hawes will discuss his program for agricultural relief as well as other issues of the campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Hawes will arrive in Maryville tomorrow noon, coming here from St. Louis by the way of St. Joseph.

On account of the weather, it was decided to hold the meeting in the courtroom instead of a large tent, as previously announced. The room will be well heated and the public is cordially invited to attend. The women especially are urged to come and meet Mrs. Hawes.

Ellis G. Cook will be chairman of the meeting tomorrow night and will introduce Mr. Hawes. Dr. J. C. Whitsell of St. Joseph, Democratic candidate for Congress from this district, has been invited and will probably be present at the meeting.

Large delegations from surrounding counties are expected to be here as it will be Mr. Hawes' first and only visit to this section of Missouri during the present campaign. He will speak at Albany, Wednesday; Chillicothe, Thursday; Richmond, Friday; and Nevada, Saturday afternoon.

A short band concert will be given before the meeting here tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gray and family of Hopkins, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. William Humphrey of Clearmont.

Meeting To Be At Hotel Linville, Beginning At 6:30 O'Clock—Short Program Arranged.

American Legion officers for the coming year will be elected at a meeting at the Hotel Linville tonight, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. A short program has been prepared. Fern Crull is the retiring commander of the Legion. Chester Lyle has been vice-commander, Emmett Bartram, adjutant, and Floyd Pope, chaplain.

The time of the annual election has been changed in order to conform to the state organization, whose officers were elected at the Moberly convention a short time ago.

FREE BRIDGE IS ENDORSED

RESOLUTIONS APPROVE NON-TAXING PLAN.

USE TOLLS TO PAY

Maryville C. of C., Mayor W. O. Garrett and County Court Favor Development At St. Charles.

Resolutions endorsing a free bridge at St. Charles have been signed by Mayor W. O. Garrett, members of the county court and officials of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce and forwarded to the committee at Jefferson City.

Members of the state board of equalization will hear the plans at a meeting at Jefferson City.

The St. Charles free bridge committee has entered into a contract with the St. Louis and St. Charles Bridge Co., whereby the bridge over the Missouri River has been deeded to St. Louis and St. Charles counties as a part of the state highway system of Missouri.

The contract has been unofficially approved by B. H. Piepmeier and the State Highway Commission. The price allowed for the bridge is less than it was appraised for by the American Appraisal Co., in June, 1925. The tolls will be used to pay for the bridge.

The bridge has concrete approaches and steel structure and abutments intended to carry wings for traffic on both sides of the present structure.

As soon as the bridge has been paid for, there will be no toll charges, and the embarrassment to every citizen of Missouri of having a toll bridge on a national and state highway will be relieved.

The state board of equalization has been asked to take the bridge off the assessment books because it is now a part of state highway No. 2, or U. S. highway No. 40.

Mrs. W. R. Jones Dies; Burial Here

Body of Former Resident to Be Brought to Maryville From Gordonsville, Va.; Funeral Thursday

Mrs. W. R. Jones, a former well known resident of Maryville, died at midnight last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Newman, at Gordonsville, Va., according to a telegram received this morning by Arch K. Frank.

Mrs. Jones' body will be brought to Maryville for burial, and funeral services will be held at the W. C. Frank home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The Jones family lived in Maryville until about fifteen years ago, their home, in the southeast part of the city, being known as Woodlawn. They moved from Maryville to Arkansas, where Mrs. Jones remained until the death of her daughter, Miss Mollie Jones, which occurred about a year ago. The daughter also was buried here.

Mrs. Jones is survived by the daughter at whose home she died, a son, Gus Jones, Newport, Ark.; and several grandchildren and greatgrandchildren. Mrs. Martha E. Turner of this city is a niece and Mrs. Augustus Romasser a great-niece.

NO PLACE FOR WORST CASES

ADVANCED TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM NEEDED, SAYS FRYER.

A CHEST CLINIC OCT. 9

Disease Is Easily Overcome If Discovered In Time, County Health Officer Points Out.

"Missouri is badly in need of a sanatorium for the care of patients who have tuberculosis in its advanced stages," Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer, said today upon his return from Jefferson City, where he attended a meeting of the Missouri Tuberculosis Association.

"Here in Nodaway County," Dr. Fryer continued, "we have three or four advanced cases which ought to be hospitalized, but there is no place for them. The present institutions will take only incipient cases, and they do not have room even for all of these. Many of the advanced cases, of course, are past the curative stage, but they could be made comfortable and the danger of spreading the disease minimized."

The state also needs an institution to care for tubercular negro patients. At present there is no such institution, and this situation, especially in localities with a large negro population, Dr. Fryer believes, constitutes a menace because so many negro women and girls are employed in household positions, many of them handling food.

The state association, which was attended also by John Rush of Barnard, discussed plans for the next year's work and the sale of Christmas seals, through which the association's funds are secured.

A chest clinic will be held here on October 9 under the auspices of the Nodaway County Tuberculosis Association.

"The trouble in most tuberculosis cases," Dr. Fryer pointed out, "is that a diagnosis is not made until the disease is well advanced, and, sometimes, too late. Persons should not wait until tuberculosis manifests itself in coughing or hemorrhage. The running of an afternoon temperature, falling off in weight, and a general lassitude or "don't care" feeling should be followed immediately by an examination."

Dr. Fryer said that, contrary to the old belief, tuberculosis is not contracted so much by contact in later life as in infancy and childhood.

"Autopsy statictics after all kinds of deaths show that in 85 per cent of the cases the subject had had tuberculosis at some time in his life," he declared. "This shows that the disease often is overcome without anyone being aware that it has been present. When discovered early enough, it nearly always can be thrown off by proper diet and hygienic surroundings."

One girl who was sent from this county to the Mount Vernon state sanatorium for treatment of tuberculosis, Dr. Fryer said, has been returned after a year and a half with the disease completely arrested and she is now back in school.

The first killing frost this season was yesterday morning when the temperature was 31 degrees. The lowest this morning was 39 while the highest during the past two days was 50 on Saturday afternoon.

The rainfall up to 7 o'clock this morning was .55 of an inch. The rainfall this month will probably exceed half of the normal rainfall during the year, J. R. Brink believes.

The weather forecast is for warmer weather Tuesday.

While he is very weak, Mr. Kuchs is much better.

BRIDGE WORK IN PROGRESS

FOUR GANGS NOW REPAIRING FLOODS' RAVAGES.

THROUGH AT BARNARD

After Span There Has Been Opened to Traffic, Work Will Begin at Guilford.

Four gangs of men are now working on the bridges in various parts of the county which were damaged by the high water of several days ago. Some of the work has been delayed on account of the continued rains.

W. W. Randall, with a gang of men, is expected to have the drainage ditch bridge, west of Barnard, completed today. This bridge has been impassable for about two weeks. Mr. Randall will then go to the Platte river bridge, west of Guilford, where a 50-foot approach is needed. After that work, he will commence on the bridge, west of Conception, over the Platte. A 75-foot approach is needed there.

Mr. Randall also has a gang of men at work on repairing bridges over streams about one mile and half southwest of Skidmore.

George Farrens, with another gang, is working near Clearmont, while John Hollensbe has several men working near Pickering.

Many of the bridges need fills which it has been impossible to make on account of the continued rains.

The county court will be in session tomorrow to receive bids on five steel bridges, all of which were made necessary by the recent flooding of the county's rivers and streams.

Suit to Construe Embree Will Filed

A suit to construe the will of the late Mrs. J. V. Embree was filed in the circuit clerk's office late Saturday afternoon by Mary Embree Mills and others, against Stephen H. Kemp.

According to the petition, Mr. Kemp was appointend trustee to succeed Mary Embree Mills and Edith G. Haudschield, who are not residents of Missouri. The terms of the will, according to the petition, requesting the distribution of the interest bequeathed to the children of Jennie Embree McArthur, tend to cloud the real intent of the testator, and are further vague and uncertain. It asks the court also to ascertain and determine the true meaning and intent of the will and codicils; and demands that the interest now in the hands of the defendant should be distributed by him, share and share alike, to all the children of Jennie Embree McArthur, to be used by them as their sole and separate property.

Miss Kathryne Crowder of Jefferson City, came Saturday to enter the State Teachers College here.

A HARD BLOW FOR DEFENSE

MRS. McPHERSON IDENTIFIED AS WOMAN AT CARMEL.

BUT SHE IS CONFIDENT

Noted Evangelist Declares She and Mother Have No Fear—Crowd of Spectators At Trial.

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—Aimee Sempel McPherson, noted woman evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, went to court today.

They passed with smiling confidence through a huge crowd of spectators that gave way at the command of police officers and allowed the two women to stride through the corridors of the hall to Judge Blake's municipal courtroom.

Mrs. McPherson, her mother, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff, the prosecuting witness against them, appeared in the court for preliminary hearing on a blanket complaint charging them, Kenneth G. Ormiston and John Doe Martin with a conspiracy to defeat justice.

Ralph Hersey, former acting mayor of Santa Barbara, the first witness for the prosecution, positively identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he had seen in a narrow lane at Carmel-by-the-Sea at a time when thousands of her followers were mourning her death in the sea at Ocean Park.

He declared she was the woman he had encountered at Carmel in a lane which was so narrow he had to slow down his car to let her by. Hersey said he had seen the woman he identified as Aimee Sempel McPherson about two blocks from the Benedict "love cottage", in which Ormiston admitted he stayed ten days with an unidentified woman companion.

Mrs. McPherson, laughing cheerfully and speaking in the optimistic tone that has marked her statements during the last few days, said:

"We have no fear of the ultimate outcome. We are confident, mother and I, that we will be cleared eventually of this pack of falsehoods that we feel will fall completely of its own weight."

Again Declares France Will Settle in Full

Poincare Flatly Denies Reports His Country Wishes To Renounce War Obligation To United States.

Barleduc, France, Sept. 27.—Premier Poincare, speaking here today before the general council of the department of the Meuse, flatly denied that France had ever thought of renouncing her debt and never would entertain such a thought.

"France has never renounced her foreign debts," he said, "In fact, she has made important interest payments which would have been even larger if Germany's failure to pay up had not forced France first to restore her own decreased revenues. However, France is determined to limit her own debt payments only upon her capacity to pay."

Exhibits Good at Graham School Fair

Exhibits at Graham's school and community fair, held Friday and Saturday, were of unusually high quality, although somewhat limited in quantity, according to J. Ross Fleetwood, county farm agent, who served as one of the judges.

The school booths and the exhibition of the girls of the Graham 4-H club were unusually good, Mr. Fleetwood said.

"For a first effort, the fair was exceptionally good," he added.

The list of prize winners will be published tomorrow.

Another Attempt at British Mine Peace

With Cold Weather Approaching, Miners' Leaders Are Having Difficulty In Keeping Men From Pits.

London, Sept. 27.—With the cold weather setting in, the one hundred and fiftieth day of the coal strike in England found the strike again transferred to the halls of parliament where another attempt to reach a settlement was made after the recent futile parleys in Downing street.

Abandoning hope of getting further concessions from either the mine owners or the government, A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners federation, has publicly sounded a call for retreat and at the same time is trying to prevent a hasty rush for the pits until the miners' officials have achieved an official though patched up peace.

The House of Commons is meeting this afternoon to consider the situation and will continue deliberations tomorrow. The House of Lords also will meet this afternoon.

The government's attitude has hardened noticeably since it has become apparent that the complete surrender of the miners is imminent.

CABINET WILL AID CAMPAIGN

MEMBERS TO STUMP COUNTRY FOR G. O. P.

FIGHT FOR CONGRESS

Secretary of War Davis To Come To Missouri To Help Senator Williams—Massachusetts Important.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The full force of the administration will be thrown into the congressional campaigns next month.

With but few exceptions, the members of the President's cabinet will take the stump to aid the Republican effort to retain control of the senate and house. Cabinet members are now communicating with party speakers bureaus in New York and Chicago to arrange itineraries.

Representative Tilson, Connecticut, Republican leader in the House and manager of the New York bureau, is arranging for one cabinet member to go to Massachusetts in behalf of Senator Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee who, faces a stiff fight with former Senator David I. Walsh.

Party managers are also arranging ambitious speaking engagements for cabinet members in Kentucky, Ohio, New York, Missouri, and Oklahoma where the Republicans face battles to retain senate seats.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has a tentative schedule taking him into Ohio, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Colorado and possible Oregon on his trip to California to vote. Due to his popularity in Missouri, Secretary of War Davis will be dispatched there to aid Senator Williams in his close race with former Representative Harry Hawes.

Outdoor Sports Are Profitable to Govt.

Treasury Collects Millions Of Dollars In Taxes—Lure Of Motoring On Increase.

Washington, Sept. 27.—America's love of the great outdoors is bringing millions of dollars into the treasury in taxes.

Statistics published by the treasury today indicate that outdoor sports are taking the lead, especially motoring, and that indoor amusements are on the wane.

Because of the popularity of motoring, the government collected $113,135,000 in taxes during the fiscal year of 1926, an increase of more than eighteen million dollars as compared with 1925. Officials pointed out that there is now approximately one auto for every six persons in the United States.

Athletic and sport clubs paid the government ten million dollars in taxes on dues collected, an increase of more than one million dollars over the previous year.

NINE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

NEW JERSEY FLYER CRASHES INTO BUFFALO EXPRESS.

TWENTY-ONE INJURED

Both Trains Meet From Y Angle—Identification Of Many Victims Is Difficult.

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 27.—Nine persons were killed and twenty-one injured when train No. 306 of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, running from Scranton to Philadelphia, crashed into the Buffalo-New York express train No. 6 of the Lehigh Valley road, one hundred feet from the railroad station here today.

Nine bodies have been removed and workers are seeking others in the wreckage piled high on the tracks.

The Philadelphia-bound train smashed into the Lehigh Valley train with a terrific crash, overturning a day coach, a diner and three Pullmans.

The Buffalo-New York train was slowing down at the station when the other passenger train sideswiped it at an angle. The trains met from a Y angle, the central Railroad train coming from behind and smashing into the day coach of the express.

All of the dead and injured were in the Buffalo New York express. Most of the passengers were asleep at the time of the accident. Ater the impact, there was a moment or two of silence, then groans from the victims pinned in the wreckage.

The Central Railroad line runs close to the Lehigh river and when the Central's engine was overturned in the derailment, it barely escaped falling into the water. It was hanging over the side of the river bank.

Identification of the victims in the other train was difficult because the bodies were badly crushed.

Railroad Legislation May Be Sidetracked

More Important Legislation To Crowd Calendar of Short Session, Senator Mayfield Of Teaxs Believes.

Washington, Sept. 27. — Railroad legislation, including President Coolidge's consolidation plans, will not reach the floor of the Senate at the December session of Congress, Senator Mayfield, Democrat of Texas, and member of the interstate commerce committee, predicted today. Other more important legislation will crowd the calendar at the short session, Mayfield said.

A bill permitting railroads to extend their lines without first certifying to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the change is necessary has already passed the Senate and may be taken up by the House, however, he said.

Liberty Bonds Traced to Daugherty's Bank

New York, Sept. 27.—Four Liberty bonds, part of the $391,000 which Richard Merton, German industrialist, claims he gave the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, for putting through Merton's claims to seven million dollars of seized alien property, were traced to the Midland National Bank of Washington Courthouse, Ohio at the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial in federal court here today.

The four Liberty bonds were deposited to the account of Mal Daugherty on November 17, 1923, it was testified. They were cashed November 19 for $39,335.56. The check was made out to Harry M. Daugherty by Mal Daugherty and dated December 21, 1923 for $49,165.

Rival Towns Back Drive for Large Expansion

Chillicothe Goes Over the Top and Moberly Raises $100,000 Bonus Fund.

Moberly, Mo., Sept. 27.—Moberly has raised $100,000 toward its factory fund and the expansion campaign program is well under way.

Each property owner is asked to subscribe 2½ per cent of his assessed valuation, the money to be held by a board of trustees and used for factory purposes only. One hundred teams have been soliciting the property owners. The goal is $250,000.

As soon as the campaign has been concluded, factories which have been waiting to come into Moberly will be investigated and the most desirable ones selected and a bonus offered.

Chillicothe Over Top.

Chillicothe, Sept. 27.—This city has practically raised the $50,000 bonus fund needed to bring the Menzie Shoe Company factory here, which will employ between 200 and 300 workers throughout the year and give the city a new and large source of regular income.

Committees reported today that they were closing their drive and were within striking distance of the quota, expecting to go beyond the amount needed.

Chillicothe has followed the suit of other Missouri towns in going after new industries, offering factory site and bonus inducements.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart,
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—When, after twenty years of tarrying outside the fold, Alice Roosevelt Longworth suddenly put on her best bib and tucker one day last winter and went to a congressional ladies' tea, it did mean something after all!

People suspected it then. And they were sure when up popped no less name than that of Princess Alice a few days ago for the job of Ohio representative on the Republican national committee!

Of course, that in itself was nothing! A person as vitally and intelligently interested in politics as Alice Longworth gets quite accustomed at having her name up for this and that, and then politely refusing to hold the job!

Effect on Nick's Chances.

But it looks very much as if Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from Cincinnati has no intention of refusing this job—she hasn't done so yet. She knows that she is definitely selected, and she's the sort of lady who is quick on the trigger with her "yeas and nays."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth as member of the Republican national committee isn't the half of it.

Those birds in the know, known as political experts, say—

"That means Nick Longworth for president!"

In fact, ever since that day last winter when, breaking a vow made more than 20 years ago to the effect that just because she was marrying a congressman she had no intention of going to all the frumpy congressmen's wives' affairs, Alice did go to her first congressional tea in 20 years, they've been saying that she was out plugging for Nick for president!

Some go farther than that—

"Nick nothing!" they say, "Alice Longworth is a chip off the old block. She wouldn't mind being the first woman president of the United States they talk about!"

If saving the surface saves all there are many faces which will last a million years.

Dexter—A novel attraction will be provided at the Dairy and Poultry Show here October 18, 19 and 20 when The Statesman will have its subscribers parade their dogs down the streets.

A Sensational Saving

"On the basis of the estimated yield of gasoline by straight distillation in 1925, it would have required approximately 287,000,000 barrels, additional, of crude oil to furnish the gasoline made by cracking processes."

This quotation from a circular published by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, indicates the extent of the service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in discovering and developing commercially successful processes for cracking gasoline.

The widespread use of the cracking processes, effecting a saving of 287,000,000 barrels of crude in 1925, is largely the result of the action of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in leasing its processes to competitors.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) did not maintain a monopoly of the processes it discovered, because unwavering loyalty to the people of the Middle West and an unfaltering integrity of purpose in serving them, prohibited such a course.

Ultimately, it is the people who benefit from the widespread use of cracking processes.

Without the widespread leasing of these processes, the motorists of the country would have been forced to shoulder the cost of "bringing in" 287,000,000 additional barrels of crude oil, or of going without the use of their cars.

Moreover, it is extremely doubtful if 287,000,000 additional barrels of crude oil could have been produced in 1925, regardless of the money expended to discover it.

The importance of the process for producing gasoline by cracking in conserving an essential natural resource of the nation cannot be estimated.

Its importance to the future of oil conservation is suggested by the Bureau of Mines' circular which says: "There is probably no one factor that is more important with regard to a future supply of motor fuel than a more extended use of the cracking process in the refineries of the country."

The conservation of 287,000,000 barrels of crude resulting, directly and indirectly, from scientific work in the research laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a sensational saving.

Yet it is but one far-reaching result of the quiet, unpretentious work that is going on every day in the laboratories of this Company. It is but one of the fruits of steady, untiring labor and persistent effort.

This sensational economy was made possible by the ordinary, every-day integrity that governs the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in all its activities—an integrity that has made the name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) a guarantee of dependability.

The reputation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is due to no sudden or spectacular effort. It has been built slowly and solidly by the simple process of hard work, animated by the desire to serve the thirty million people of the Middle West sincerely and efficiently.

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborte bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH and his wife, MYRA.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining as house guests:

LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of Myra's and, aside from Perry, the only heir to her considerable fortune, and

BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic. She did not love her husband, but seemed enamored of Inman. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. In fact, her hatred of color amounted to a passion. She collected rare old bottles and her latest was a whisky bottle which she was quite proud of but which aroused her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Perry Heath and Bunny. Myra, becoming provoked, declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, Myra Heath alludes mysteriously to Perry's "secret." When Perry goes to bed, Inman comes down stairs, and he and Myra are discovered in each other's arms later by Perry.

The next morning, Mrs. Prentiss, who lives next door, was telling her nephew, Todhunter Buck, of some mysterious lights she had seen the night before in the Heath bungalow. While they are talking a loud scream from the Heath home interrupts their conversation.

That night Perry Heath, stealing downstairs, discovers his wife in Inman's arms and orders the latter out of the house by morning.

The next day the body of Myra Heath is found in the studio by a servant. A candle is burning at her head and feet, there is a big cut in her head and, strangest of all, her face is made up with cosmetics and she is dressed in outlandish colors.

HERRICK, the butler, after calling the doctor, steals some money from a drawer near the body and then dis- "The Work of Perry Heath."

The doctor, when he comes, finds covers, at Myra's feet, a card marked, that the death blow was struck with Myra's cherished whisky bottle. It is discovered then that Perry Heath is gone, his bed unslept in.

She has been killed by a blow with her cherished whisky bottle. When the coroner comes, Inman and Bunny are strangely nervous when made to answer questions. Meanwhile, at the Country Club the murder is the topic of conversation among SAM ANDERSON, AL CUNNINGHAM and others. MRS. PRENTISS, towing her nephew, TODHUNTER BUCK, goes over to the Heaths and invites Bunny to stay at her house next door. Bunny breaks out crying and Buck, at sight of her beauty, is her slave.

Mrs. Prentiss relates having seen mysterious lights appear and disappear, the night before, in the Heath home, and at the inquest testimony brings out the fact that Bunny Moore knew of the murder before the maid, who went to her room to inform her.

Finger prints of Inman and Bunny Moore are found on the bottle, and the coroner declares his belief that the murderer will be found in the household. Inman relates having seen a vanity case near the body, but that has disappeared. Physicians declare the rouge was applied to Myra Heath's face after death.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the mystery, and others, some believing Perry Heath the murderer, others disagreeing. Cunningham suspects Bunny Moore is concealing something, calls on Mrs. Prentiss, who tells him about the mysterious lights. TODHUNTER BUCK, Mrs. Prentiss' nephew, and Cunningham inspect the Heath home and Cunningham confiscates Bunny's vanity case.

Buck has fallen in love with Bunny and believes her innocent. He goes to the funeral parlors and finds Cunningham and DETECTIVE MOTT.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI.

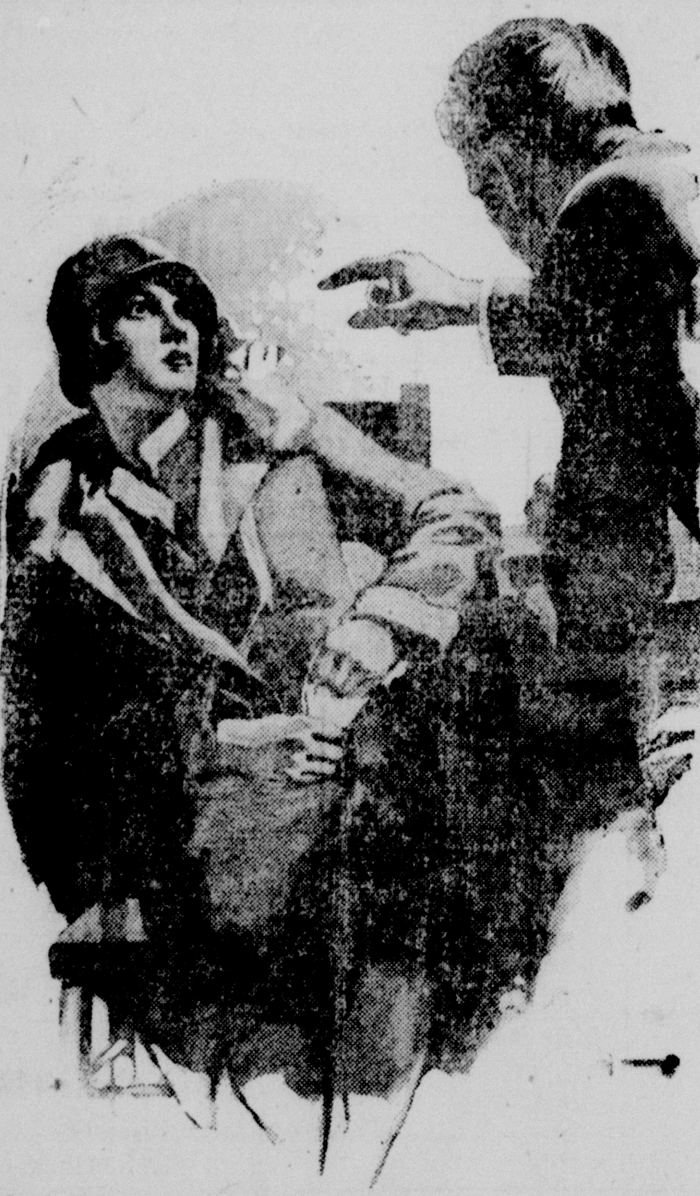
The two greeted him with grave and serious faces.

On a table between them lay an or-

On a table between them lay an ornate and elaborate vanity case, which Buck instantly believed to be Bunny's missing property.

It was of gold, and to the main box were attached various and sundry dangling little boxes or phials, all hung by gold chains.

"Here you are, Mr. Buck," and Cunningham plunged at once into the matter; "this is Miss Moore's vanity box. I took it from her bedroom. Now experts have made tests and they say that the cosmetics applied to Mrs. Heath's face after she was dead, might have been from this box—"



"Out with it now! It will be far better for you in the long run, if you tell the truth. You saw somebody—who was it?"

"Might have been!" said Buck, quietly. "What does that prove?"

"Only that they were not from the boxes belonging to Mrs. Heath herself. That, so far as we know, there was no other available vanity box in the Heath house last night. An examination of the servants' belongings shows only some inferior materials. That this box shows on its surface the finger prints of Miss Moore, only—no others. And so, we are forced to the conclusion, that, quite apart from the murder, the making up of Mrs. Heath's face was done by Miss Moore. This in itself is, of course, no crime, but added to the fact that Miss Moore's finger prints were on the bottle that was used as a weapon, we can't help feeling that Miss Moore was in some way implicated in the matter, if only as an accessory or an observes.'"

"You think so?" was Toddy's noncommittal reply.

"We do," was the response from Detective Mott, himself. "And if you are interested in a proof of it, stay here a few moments longer. I have sent for an important witness, and if you choose, you can listen in."

So Toddy stayed, and it was not long before Emma, the waitress from the Heath home appeared.

She was one who had seemed simple and honest at the time of the inquest and Mott greeted her kindly.

"Well, Emma," he said, "we've sent for you, because we think you know more than you told at the inquest."

"Yes, sir," said the phlebmatic and imperturable young woman.

Mott didn't quite know whether her response was one of acquiescence or merely acknowledgment of his remark, but he felt his way slowly.

"You do know a little more, Emma?" he said, ingratiatingly.

"Yes, sir," was the stolid assent.

"Well, tell it," Mott was getting impatient.

"Tell what, sir?"

"What you know."

But suddenly, Emma seemed to get scared.

"I—I don't know anything, sir!" she half breathed, her eyes getting big with fright and her voice trembling.

Mott pursued his advantage.

"Yes, you do! Now, out with it! Do you want to find yourself in the station house? Tell me what you saw, when you came dowstairs to let Katie in!"

"I told the gentleman, sir, that I saw nothing."

"I know you did. And you told a lie! Now, do the best you can to repair the slip of your tongue. What did you see? Or whom?"

"I—I saw—" Emma hesitated, but her interlocutor gave her a prod.

"Out with it now! It will be far better for you in the long run, if you tell the truth. You saw somebody—who was it?"

"Miss—Miss Bunny, sir."

"Yes, of course, I knew that!"

This was mendacity on Mott's part, but he knew how to treat a girl like Emma.

"What was she doing?" he went on.

"She—she was going upstairs, sir."

"Going upstairs, was she? Alone?"

"Quite alone, sir."

"Did she—listen, now, Emma,—did she have this vanity box in her hand?"

"Y—yes, sir," Emma faltered.

"Are you sure?" Toddy Buck broke in. "I believe this girl will assent to anything you suggest!"

"Are you sure, Emma?" Mott repeated.

"Yes, sir, I'm sure," Emma said, because I heard it jingle as it hit against the stair rail. Oh, sir, I hope I haven't done wrong to tell!"

"No. You do wrong when you don't tell. Do you know any more? What did the young lady do next?"

"That's all, sir . She went up the stairs and into her own room and shut the door."

"And that was at one o'clock?"

"No, sir, it was half-past one."

"You're a good witness, Emma. Half-past one was what you said at the inquest."

"But it was half-past one, sir. I saw by the pantry clock."

"Yes," interrupted Al Cunningham, "and you said at the inquest that you saw no one when you came down to let Katie in. You said that the sercant's rooms are all in the back of the house—"

"Yes, sir,—" Emma looked distressed. "But I peeped in the front part, through the door upstairs, and I saw Miss Moore. And I didn't say anything about it at first,—but now, I thought I'd better."

"Oh, you did!" said Cunningham. "And whose advice made you feel that way about it?"

"Carter's, sir."

Truly, Emma was ingenuous!

"Ah, Carter's. And why does sho want Miss Moore brought into this thing?"

"I don't know, sir. She just advised me to tell all I know."

"And have you done so?"

"Yes, sir, I have, but Katie,—she hasn't.

"Hello," Mott took up the querying. "Katie hasn't, eh? Well, do you know what it is that Katie hasn't told? Can you tell us as well as Katie could?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then go ahead."

"Why, you see, Katie is engaged to her young man, Jimmy Lomax. Well, when they two comes home, from Katie's evening out they don't always come right in the house."

"No? What do they do?"

"Well, they—they sets in the arbor and—and spoons—like."

"Oh, I see. And you wait till they're through spooning, and then you let Katie in? You're a loyal friend, Emma."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, go on."

"Well, you see, sir, that night,—last night as ever was, sir, when Katie and Jim was settin' quiet like in the arbor, he saw a man come out of the house, leastwise he came off of the verandah, and he went away."

"Went away?"

"Yes, sir, went down the road and out of the gate."

"Oh, he did. And who was this man?"

"Jim, he don't know, sir. You see, he was talkin' to Katie, and he just sorta noticed the man, unthinkin' like. He says it mighta been Mr. Heath, and then again it mightn't."

"I see. Well, that matter will bear looking into. Now, as to Miss Moore. You're sure you saw her coming upstairs, at one-thirty, with this vanity case in her hand?"

"Yes, sir, I'm sure."

Emma's stolid demeanor went far to convince her hearers of her sincerity of statement, whatever the deductions might indicate.

After a few more questions, which brought out nothing new, Mott sent the girl away, with strict instructions to tell no word of what had passed at the interview. And so thoroughly did he threaten her with punishment, for disobedience, that Emma went off, vowing inviolable secrecy.

BLISTERS SHOULD BE KEPT DRY TO HEAL

When the Skin Is Broken, Care Should Be Used to Prevent Any Infection and Further Irritation Must Be Stopped.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

One of the common things in life is to acquire a blister or a series of them. Unless they become infected they are not serious, but it may not be amiss to tell you something in detail about blisters and their treatment.

A few days ago I wrote you an article about "shingles" or "herpes." I said then that this is not a serious disease except in feeble old people. Little blisters appear on the skin in this disease, and the chief thing to do in the treatment of herpes is to avoid searring. Little trouble need be expected in shingles if blisters are small in size and numbers.

The blisters which appear in herpes are different from ordinary blisters in that the underlying skin participates in the disease. Because the local resistence is lowered is the reason why large blisters in herpes are liable to become infected. In this event there may be left unpleasant reminders—a scar marking the location of each vesicle or blister.

There are a lot of causes for blisters besides a disease like herpes. New shoes or poorly fitting shoes will irritate the skin so that blisters form. One of the reasons why tight shoes or shoes of stiff and unyielding leather are harmful to the feet, is because the rubbing of the skin may produce serious irritation and blisters.

Changing from low to high or from high to low shoes may cause irritation where the top of the shoe rubs an unaccustomed part of the skin. Blisters form sometimes between the toes.

It may be that the dye of the stockings or the chemicals which are used in preparing leather may have some effect on the skin. It must be remembered, too, that short, tight stockings are just as bad as too-tight shoes.

Anything which produces excessive sweating of the feet will soften the skin. Blisters may be one result of this irritation.

In treating blisters which come from any cause, whether from herpes or from abuse of the feet, the treatment is practically the same. The important thing is to keep the affected parts as dry as possible. This means that the stockings must be changed frequently. It means that water and moist preparations should be avoided.

If the blisters form on the body or shoulders or any other place where rubbing of the clothing is apt to irritate them, there should be some means of protection. A thick and wide layer of cotton may be strapped over the part to keep it from rubbing.

If a larger blister forms somewhere it will give less trouble if you extract the water from it. Your hands should be washed so that they are perfectly clean, and likewise the affected part of the skin should be thoroughly clean. Then you may sterlize the point of a needle by passing it through the flame of a match and wiping it off on a piece of sterile cotton. With this the blister may be carefully opened at its edge. The fluid is pressed out and pains are taken not to break or tear the skin. The thin covering acts as a protection to the underlying tissues. A thin layer of gauze is placed over this and strapped in place with adhesive plaster. By reasonable care the blisters will disappear in a few days and you will be quite as well as ever. Don't pick or fuss with the blister. Cover it up to protect it from your own hands as well as from the irritation of the clothing.

Burlington Junction

An effort is being made to plan an outlet for Mill Creek, a small stream just south of town. With the present condition, the overflow during hard rains is very destructive. Much damage has resulted during the recent rains. The interested farmers and land owners, are asked to meet at the Furguson-Staples lumber yard Saturday afternoon, to make some definite plan of improvement.

Clyde Shadduck and family are enjoying a visit with his brother, F. N. Shadduck. The latter's home is in Los Angeles, Cal. It is the first visit the two brothers have had together for some time.

Two of Burlington Junction's best families were directly affected by the severe storm in Miami, Florida. They are Judge William Woods, who lost his winter home near there, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Farrell, who have a married son within five miles of Miami. A telegram from the son a few days ago stated that he and his family were unharmed and safe, thus allaying all fears for their safety.

The two churches of Burlington Junction are inaugurating a vigorous program for the fall and winter. Without the church, all else would fail. The pastors of both churches are looking for increased attendance at all services.

Mrs. Etta Anderson of Wray, Colo., returned to her home this Saturday morning, after four months here caring for her sick mother, Mrs. S. A. Taylor. The mother has convalesced to an extent that Mrs. Anderson felt that she must return to her home for a time at least. She will return later, to assist in caring for the mother through the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Watt Hobbs, of St. Joseph were here a few days this week visiting friends and relatives. They were called to the community on account of Glen Booher's death, Mrs. Hobbs being a sister of Glen's mother.

The Misses Pauline Walker and Beatrice Byers entertained their respective Sunday School classes Friday night with a program and games in the church parlors. Ice cream and cake were served. There were twenty present.

The first community meeting for the Star school district was held at the school house, three miles south of town, Friday night. It was a very enjoyable occasion. The house was packed with patrons of the school. The program consisted of music, prayer by one of the students, recitations and readings and an address upon the life and character of Frances E. Willard, by the Rev. J. Howard Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Burlington Junction. Mrs. Vesper Crane is the popular teacher in this school.

In a conversation with the township trustee for this township, he wished it known that everything was being done that could be done for the improvement of the roads within the township. The funds are very low, and much donated work is being given by the farmers, which is greatly appreciated by the traveling public. The roads never were in worse condition than now. The entire western district is entirely shut off from Burlington Junction, except by long detours. However, patience, perseverance, and stick-to-it-ness will eventually win, and the roads will again be passable.

Plan Consolidation of Lumber Concerns

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 27.—Plans looking toward consolidation of approximately seventy fir lumber concerns on the Pacific coast into one company will be discussed at a series of conferences here this week, between officials of various companies.

Properties to be represented have a total value of between $350,000,000 and $400,000,000 and if the consoladation is effected, it will be one of the largest organizations in existance.

Nodaway Man Tops Hog Market at $13.50

"It Pays to Use Tankage in Feeding," Says John Yates. —Joe Jackson Sells Cattle.

John Yates who hails from Nodaway county, Mo., one of the best all around farming and agricultural districts in Missouri topped the St. Joseph hog market Friday with a load of 200 lb. Duroc Jerseys selling at $13.30. The load sold straight, just as it came from the car and was the only load at the price.

These hogs were February pigs that had been crowded along on a balanced ration of corn, tankage and linseed oil. They also had the run of a good pasture.

"I have found that it pays to use a little tankage in feeding hogs," said Mr. Yates. "We have come to the place where, in order to make live stock show the maximum profit, we must balance our feeding ration and mature our stock at an earlier age than used to be the custom."

Mr. Yates has another load of lighter hogs at home which he expects to market in the next few weeks.

Joseph Jackson, another Nodaway countian, was here Thursday with a load of 898 lb. steers and heifers that sold at $10.25.—St. Joseph Stockyards Daily Journal.

Parnell Resident Warns of Rabies

Mrs. Ed Simmons Remembers Outbreak 23 Years Ago.—Horses Most Dangerous, She Says.

Maryville's city authorities, who have imposed stringent regulations upon all dogs for a period of thirty days, in order to guard against the spread of rabies, have a strong supporter in Mrs. Ed Simmons of Parnell, who recalls an outbreak there twenty-three years ago.

Mrs. Simmons writes

"Concerning the mad dog story that I see in your paper, will write our experience.

"I thought of mad dogs that as soon as affected they would have a fit. It was not so in our case. The first we noticed of our dog, he barked hoarse; his voice was not natural at all. This was on Thursday, and he went until Sunday morning before he had a fit. Just think what he might have done in all that time, and not a thought of his being mad.

"He bit one of our fine horses. That horse went until Thursday night, when he never ate his supper. At the time he took sick, he was as fat as a butter ball; by Sunday morning you could count every rib he had. After he had the first fit, it was a very short time until he died.

"Your veterinarian then was Dr. Wolf. He was the man who examined the dog's head and pronounced the disease rabies.

"The dog also bit our neighbor's cow and also my father's horse. This horse never was so bad nor lasted so long as our horse did. At that time I would have given all we possessed if I could have had a conversation with someone that had had some experience in such a case, and I said then that if such an occasion ever arose again I would write a letter and have it published. That was twenty-three years ago this August.

"Above all, beware! There is nothing so dangerous as a horse with such a disease. We were out $300, besides so much worry and trouble.

"Mrs. Ed Simmons."

Say Cancer Is not Contagious in Any Way

Lake Mononk, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Cancer is not contagious, infectious or hereditary and its cure depends chiefly on its early discovery, leading cancer experts of the world agree.

The announcement was made at the close of a five day international cancer symposium. More than one hundred specialists from various countries joined in the announcement.

The specialists agreed that only effective treatment now known is surgery, radium and X-rays.

"In some forms of cancer, early treatment afford the only possibility of cure," the statement said.

Mrs. W. S. Welch of Parnell went to Mt. Ayr, Ia., today to visit her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Peal.

CLOSING GRAIN REVIEW.

Chicago, Sept. 27—Good buying gave wheat a sharply higher close on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but the coarse grains felt none of this stimulus and lost fractionally in all positions.

Wheat closed ⅞ to 1⅛ cents higher. Export business was placed at about 400,000 bushels, one-half of which was Manitobas. Cash prices were 1 to 1 1-3 cents up with the futures.

Reports of frost caused little enthusiasm in the corn pit and there was little outside interest in the pit. Sales of old corn were not as great as last week. Cash values were unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Oats lost ⅛ to ⅜ cent in a dull market.

Provisions closed higher on account of better hog prices.

MINE CAPTIVES MAY BE SAVED

RESCUERS HOPE TO REACH TRAPPED MEN WEDNESDAY.

ENTOMBED ON FRIDAY

43 Employes of Michigan Coal Company Have Water and Oxygen But No Food.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 27.—Hopes flared anew this afternoon for the rescue of the forty-three miners entombed since last Friday in the Pabst mine of the Oliver Mining Co.

According to mine officials, the rescue workers will reach the trapped men by Wednesday and it is believed the miners will be able to survive until then. Should the rescue be delayed longer, however, the men never will be brought out alive, it is feared.

The entombed men have an ample supply of water and the oxygen supply is sufficient to keep them alive until Wednesday, it is believed. All of the men are hardy and able to go many days without food.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 27.—The mining county hoped today almost against hope for the forty-three miners entombed in the Pabst mine of the Oliver Mining Co. since Friday.

In spite of the optimism of the mining company officials, there are many here, some of whom are old miners, who believe that the entombed men will never be brought to the surface alive.

Three bodies have already been recovered.

WIZARDS GIVE WAY TO SONS

EDISON AND FORD TURN OVER BUSINESS MANAGEMENT.

SONS NET INVENTORS

Both Younger Men Primarily Business Men and Lay No Claim on Genius—Believe in Education.

By ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Successors of their own blood are stepping into the shoes of Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford as the age-enforced retirement of these two outstanding American mechanical wizards draws near.

But—twin whim of destiny!—from the blood streams that link fathers and sons, the corpuscles of genius are lacking.

In the sons, Edsel Ford and Charles Edison, executives of the "American business man" type are inheriting control of the huge Ford and Edison industrial concerns.

The Wizards Are Gone.

When the curtain of inactivity falls on the founders of these concerns it will fall simultaneously on the inventive instinct—the flair for doing new things, or old things in a new way—that made these founders rich and famous.

Charles Edison is the second of the sons to spring into prominence. He becomes president of an assortment of industries worth upwards of $100,000,000 and employing some 45,000 workers.

"I'm a business man and not an inventor," young Edison candidly says.

At 36 he is affable, college-bred, and a lover of the arts. He makes a hobby of writing and thinks a finished education a fine thing for a youth who is starting out to make his own way.

The elder Edison cares nothing for the arts, never had a college training and is very dubious about higher education's benefits.

There is less difference between the dispositions of Henry and Edsel Ford, perhaps. Yet Edsel Ford, too, primarily is a "business men and not an inventor." There is little of the mechanical wizard about him.

Charles Edison proudly tells that new responsibilities did not come simply by inheritance.

"I didn't ask any favors from my father and I din't receive any," he says. "I worked for what I got. "He made me do it. There is no favoritism in business, because favoritism doesn't pay. Ability alone counts."

Education Is Valuable.

As for education—

"If two seemingly equally capable men start from the same place, one college-trained and the other not, the race will end with the college man ahead," he observes.

And as for slumber, of which Thomas A. Edison says man needs but four hours nightly—

"Well, I'll admit I sleep a little more than that," says the son with a smile.

Filling Their Fathers' Shoes

The sons are coming to the top in American industry, stepping into the shoes worn by their fathers. Charles Edison, son of the famous inventor, Thomas A. Edison, has become president of his father's $100,000,000 concern, while Edsel Ford is assuming more and more of the duties of his father, Henry Ford. Charles Edison is shown above, with Edsel Ford inset

Doctor Gives Rules to Avoid Influenza

Keep Feet Dry, Eat Simply, Sleep Much, Watch Ventilation, Says George S. Eoff.

A sudden change from warm weather to chilly, with a slow, annoying drizzle of rain, such as Maryville has had for the last two days, is ideal "influenza weather," according to Dr. George C. Eoff, local osteopath.

Precaution against the disease should be reduobled in such weather, Dr. Eoff urges.

"Influenza," he pointed out, "can be cured, but it is much easier to prevent it than to cure it. If it does attack you, it is much easier for the doctor to handle it if you live right. So start today to keep it away."

Here are rules which Dr. Eoff says will overcome influenza:

"Think, work and smile; then rest awhile. You must not get over tired.

"Patronize the sunshine and the open air. Insist on sensible ventilation day and night.

"Avoid chilling drafts, wet feet and radical changes in the amount of clothing.

"Get plenty of sleep; eat enough simple food, but not too much.

"Wash your hands frequently. Then keep your fingers off your face. Don't shake hands often, and avoid 'lip' greetings.

"Bathe freely. Take two or three hot baths a week. Start the day with a cold shower and brisk exercise.

"Gargle your throat and spray your nose often with a mild antiseptic. Drink many, many glasses of water a day, with some lemon or orange juice, and if there is any doubt about the bowels being in good condition, take an enema.

"Keep plenty of generous handkerchiefs handy and avoid the cougher, the sneezer and the sniffler.

"Help to educate your own community to the point where all children, and others with colds or other kinds of sickness, stay away from public places as much as possible.

"When the body machine is kept in structural order, there is less tendency to contract disease. Physical adjustment is fundamental. It releases nature's forces and gives the body its full fighting chance. Hence it is well to have a thorough physical examination at regular intervals, with adjustment of whatever may be wrong. When influenza is prevalent this is even more important."

Excelsior Springs Newspapers Merged

Excelsior Springs, Mo., now has one daily newspaper, the Daily Standard of that city having bought the Daily News. Fred W. Mitchell is the editor of the Standard. Editor Mitchell says:

"The Standard is entering this newspaper field alone with a sincere realization of its responsibility. Newspapers everywhere are merging or consolidating. The benefits are threefold. It results in better newspapers for the readers, more complete coverage at a lower cost to the advertiser, and a more profitable business for the publisher."
